

SUPPORT CHILD CARE WORKERS WITH ESSENTIAL SUPPLIES

Together We Can Move Forward

On April 4, Governor Newsom released an executive order recognizing child care providers as part of the essential workforce. Child care providers are, now more than ever, demonstrating how valuable they are to the infrastructure of our community by providing care for children of essential workers.

Child Care Resource Center (CCRC) represents and supports ten organizations across San Bernardino County and Los Angeles County that provide critical early learning and care programs and services to children, families and the child care workforce. Collectively, Each month, we provide quality, support, development, and education to almost 50,000 children, families in our 22,500-square-mile service area. We remain a unique and distinctive leader in the child care industry. Our current programs include resource libraries, home visiting, workforce development, family engagement, financial care assistance, Head Start preschool, Early Head Start, Early Head Start - Childcare partnership, Motherhood and so much more.

We look forward to another 40 years of continued support from our community as we help cultivate child, family and community well-being. As child care providers are called to take action and be on the front-line at this unprecedented time, we ask for you to support them by providing the essential supplies they need to stay in business and safely care for those most in need.
